

Death Wish

For much of this life
I have longed for death
a surcease
hiatus
the end at least of this sojourn
in which too much damage was wrought for it to ever be fulfillingly repaired

I have worked on the spiritual stuff as much as I could
It has brought me to peace with longing for death and most everything else and has fed me with so much more

But in a way
this has been a non-life (though don't the myriads also live such?) with notable exceptions here and there a few stretches and mountain peaks of magnificence and fulfilling enough everyday
productive
tread

So, again, I return to the death wish though I know my demise will come in its time

And then we shall see
