

The Fallacy of Certainty

The fallacy of certainty has beset us like a dread disease certainty of the unproven, bigoted assertion certainty of the other deserving hatred certainty of the worst being true a pandemic rivaling the Covid holding us all in thrall

How we dress ourselves in certainty, bigotry, hatred
How we draw the line and split ourselves asunder
How we destroy love and trust, unity and comradery
How we disdain collaboration and the working out of differences
We are all wearing imaginary clothing plundered from our darkest dreams
